Dear friend:

We are very glad to send you the enclosed letter from North Vietnam. It, along with 142 others, was brought to this country by Jean Palomdon, Nancy Rubin and Judy Claver -- anti-war activists who spent two weeks in North Vietnam.

The letters were slightly delayed in getting here because all the material they brought back with them, including the letters, was confiscated by the Canadian Customs upon their arrival in Montreal. This was totally unexpected and unprecedented; but they generated enough pressure so that everything was returned to them.

There will be another group going to North Vietnam at the end of this month. If you would like them to take a letter from you, please send it to us in the next week or so.

Sincerely,

Barbara Webster

Dear Mrs. Weiss:

I received the letter from my husband in North Vietnam, and I am grateful to have this confirmation of his capture. Although I believe you are being "used" by Hanoi as a face-saving device to release names and allow flow of mail, this does not bother me because I know the anguish of not having definite knowledge of my husband.

I have been relieved that Reverend Fernandez has not publicized his visit with some prisoners, and I hope that he will not. It is one thing to publicize the release of names and flow of mail. It is quite another thing to publicize forced anti-war statements made by prisoners of war. This is not even believable propaganda and I am sure you will agree that it is a cruel exploitation of helpless men.

I respect your views on the Vietnam War and I do not blame you for attempting to gain support for your beliefs. However, a prisoner of war is in no position to be "for" or "against" this war and should not be used in this way. If my contacting your committee for information should result in an "interview" with my husband, I shall regret that contact.

I remain grateful for the information about my husband. I do understand your difficult position. I hope you can understand mine.

Sincerely,

For Mr. 2

I'm sorry for the delay in replying to your thoughtful and concerned letter of May 2nd. It took a while before I was able to get to the Post Office to claim it in person.

I understand your concerns and wish to relieve you at once of any unnecessary anxiety. While I don't share your fear of seeing prisoners, I can assure you that family contact with this Committee results in nothing but what the family requests, e.g. information, mail, suggestions for packages, whatever. Visitors to North Vietnam who have seen prisoners have not "selected" those seen. The Vietnamese decide who should be brought out for these interviews. In the cases of those seen, it is not so much what the men have said which was considered important, but rather how they looked and their apparent state of mind. Such reports have been helpful to families. Over the years nearly 20 men have been seen, aside from those released (9). Four years ago some were found to be thin, though otherwise well. More recently they evidence improved conditions in North Vietnam. With severe wartime shortages eased, more food clothing and medication is clearly available.

To the extent that we have been able to put families in touch with prisoners, and to the extent that that contact including improved and varied gifts allowed, has improved the lot of the prisoner, we are really very pleased to play this role. It has not always been pleasant. As a wife and mother I easily sympathize with families who suffer from separation or lack of knowledge. Having visited North Vietnam I also sympathize with the many women I met there who may not know for years if their sons or husbands will return. I wish more than anything that everyone may be reunited. That is why I continue to organize women here to bring an end to the war.

Of course the men are helpless. They do talk and read and think, and I'm sure everyone is grateful that they're alive. They are among the victims of this war. Much of their interest is often discouraged. But the greater tragedy is the propaganda from the Perot-Nixon machinery which tries to seek support for the war by spreading campaigns of hatred towards the enemy.

I don't want to impose myself and go on at length, on the other hand I don't want you to feel that you haven't been fully answered. You might be interested to know that we just received a request from a wife asking that a member of our next delegation to Hanoi specifically ask to see her husband as he has not been seen for two years. He apparently has had some medical history and she thought our asking for him might give some special attention or at least bring out a report on his condition. However, that is just an individual instance.

I do hope you will feel free to continue this discussion, or any other, and I do apologise for the inordinate delay in reply.

Sincerely,

Cora Weiss

Mrs. [REDACTED] wife of [REDACTED] was interviewed at her home on October 14, 1970, and she furnished the following information: [REDACTED] b7c

[REDACTED] b7c

She stated she had been contacted by the Committee of Liaison with Families of Servicemen Detained in Vietnam (COLIFAM), by letter only, and this is how she in fact found out her husband was a prisoner of war and not merely missing in action.

The letter informing her of this was a form letter dated April 7, 1970, bearing the letterhead of the COLIFAM, 365 West 42nd Street, New York, New York, 10036. This letter merely informed her that her husband's name appeared on a list furnished by the North Vietnamese indicating he was a prisoner of war. This letter was signed by CORA WEISS and DAVE DELLINGER, and enclosed mimeographed "information sheet" indicating the functions of the committee, the background of the committee, and the membership of the committee.

The next letter she received from the committee was written May 13, 1970, and was addressed "Dear Friend," This letter indicated that the committee had received a packet of letters mailed by prisoners of war, and that the committee was forwarding her letter to her. This letter was signed BARBARA WEBSTER. U.S. b7c BO 12812-2

The third letter Mrs. [REDACTED] received was dated May 15, 1970, and indicated that any future correspondence

The fourth and last letter received by Mrs. [REDACTED] [REDACTED] was dated September 18, 1970, and it too indicated that the committee was forwarding another letter from [REDACTED] husband. This letter was signed by CORA WEISS.

b7c
Mrs. [REDACTED] provided the original letters, which were retained. b7c 201-8122

b7c
Mrs. [REDACTED] stated that she has had no contact with the committee other than the above mentioned letters, and her only letters from her husband have been forwarded to her by the committee, or have been placed within committee envelopes and postmarked New York, New York.
She has never corresponded with the committee herself,
nor does she know the identity of any other prisoner of war families who have.

Mrs. [REDACTED] advised that she is willing to cooperate with the FBI and testify in this matter at a later date if she can be assured that it will in no way compromise the

From: Rev. Richard Fernandez

To: The families of the 335 presently confirmed prisoners held in North Vietnam

Re: Information on correspondence with prisoners

On April 20th I returned from a three-week trip to Laos and North Vietnam. In North Vietnam I spoke with officials responsible for communication between pilots held in detention there and their families here. The following information was emphasized to us by the North Vietnamese authorities and we are anxious to make sure that you are aware of it:

- 1) The Vietnamese recommend that families use the air-letter form (enclosed) for correspondence. Send yours to the
- 2) Communication to pilots should be limited to matters of family and health.
- 3) Pilots are allowed to receive one letter per month and one package every other month (not over six pounds in weight).

Detention Camp authorities have said that they do not wish to receive several letters and/or packages per month for a given pilot from different members of the same family. Families should make arrangements for alternating letters each month if different members want to write.

The North Vietnamese authorities indicated that, from this point forward, they will not feel responsible for forwarding letters and packages that do not adhere to the above.

If the letter form is mailed directly it can go in another envelope but the mail route, "via Moscow, U.S.S.R.," should definitely be included in the address. If letters are sent to the Committee of Liaison for forwarding please enclose but do not affix stamps as we send letters on in packets. The Committee cannot forward packages for families.

While I was in Hanoi, Prof. Douglas Dowd of Cornell University and I met with three pilots: Cdr. Robert Schweitzer of Lemoore, California, Cdr. Walter Wilbur of Virginia Beach and Lt. Col. Edison Miller of Santa Ana, California. The three men were in good health, and said they had daily exercise and reading material. The three pilots advised us that they had been getting letters and packages from their families, and asked that packages include toilet articles and canned foods. In particular they mentioned soap, shaving cream (no razors or blades), toothpaste, powdered milk and cream, instant coffee and non-melting candy. They said they do not need clothes.

Also, in my discussions with the Vietnam Committee of Solidarity with the American People, the Committee of Liaison's contact in North Vietnam, we confirmed that since December over 800 letters have been sent from Hanoi through the Committee of Liaison. Of those, 156 letters are still on their way from Hanoi to families here.

We hope that this information clarifies some aspects of correspondence for you. If you have any further questions please do not hesitate to contact us.

whereabouts with several other individuals who also have relatives missing in action or who are prisoners of war in Southeast Asia.

Mrs. [REDACTED] traveled in Southeast Asia and several countries in that area attempting to obtain information concerning her son. Her travels took her to Hong Kong and Phnom Penh, Cambodia, Saigon, South Vietnam and then to Vientiane, Laos on [REDACTED] 1970. b7c

On [REDACTED] 1970, Mrs. [REDACTED] accompanied by [REDACTED] Laos, visited the North Vietnamese Embassy in that town during the morning and requested an appointment. She was granted an appointment at 2:00 PM on that date and she returned to the North Vietnamese Embassy again accompanied by [REDACTED] b7c
At the North Vietnamese Embassy she met a Phan Tam and advised Phan Tam that she was an American mother acting on her behalf and was not sponsored by any group, and that the sole purpose of her visit was to seek information concerning her son.

Mr. [REDACTED] b7c was advised by Phan Tam who apparently was the First Secretary of the North Vietnamese Embassy that she would have to obtain information concerning her son through the Committee of Liaison with Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam (COLIFAM), and she met Reverend Richard Fernandez in Vientiane at the hotel where she was staying. She knew that Fernandez was associated with COLIFAM. She met Reverend Fernandez and requested that Fernandez on his next trip to North Vietnam attempt to learn whether her son was being held as a prisoner of war. Fernandez stated that he would determine if her son was being held as a prisoner of war. She advised that Fernandez did not have any problem getting into North Vietnam and he entered and left the North Vietnamese Embassy in Vientiane, Laos at will. She stated that he then left Vientiane, Laos on an airplane for North Vietnam on the following Friday, and then returned one week
